MTSU President To Address MSU Grads

Dr. M. G. Scarlett, president of Middle Tennessee State University for the past decade, will deliver the commencement address at Murray State University on Saturday, May 13. He will address the 55th spring graduating class in ceremonies to begin at 10 a.m. in the university fieldhouse. Both mid-year and spring graduates will be awarded degrees by Dr. Constantine W. Curris, university president.

Other to participate in the program include the Rev. Mr. Fred C. Morton, United Methodist campus minister, who will give the invocation and benediction, and the 38-piece Wind Sinfonietta conducted by Paul W. Shahan, which will play the processional and recessional and provide special music.

Scarlett, who has resigned the presidency of Middle Tennessee, effective Dec. 31, to accept a Regents Professorship at another state university, is also one of three upon whom honorary degrees will be conferred during the graduation program. He will be presented a doctor of letters degree.

Honorary degrees will also be conferred on Dr. Hugh L. Oakley and Richard W. "Doc" Farrell, both of whom retired from Murray State in 1977. Oakley, who was dean of the College of Industry and Technology, will be presented a doctor of science degree, and Farrell, who was chairman of the Department of Music, will be presented a doctor of humanities degree.

Since Scarlett became president at Middle Tennessee in 1968, the student body has grown by more than 3,000 — to greater than 10,000 — and the percentage of faculty members holding terminal degrees has more than doubled.

Among the new facilities built during his tenure are the Charles M. Murphy Athletic Center, the scene of major athletic and entertainment events and a variety of physical education activities, and the Learning Resources Center, which provides innovative learning experiences and assists faculty in preparation of teaching materials.

Graduate programs have also expanded greatly during the last 10 years as Middle Tennessee has become a national leader in the granting of doctor of arts degrees focusing on the preparation of college teachers.

Programs in aerospace and mass communications developed during recent years on the Murfreesboro campus have become widely known, and the School of Business earned accreditation in 1977 by the prestigious American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business after several years of concentrated effort.

A native in Reading, Pa., Scarlett earned the baccalaureate degree at

Dr. M. G. Scarlett

Catawba (N. C.) College, the M. A. degree at the University of Florida, and the Ed. D. degree at Oklahoma State University.

His experience in higher education administration includes a background as administrator of the nine-campus Maine university system, president of Farmington (Maine) State College, academic dean at Mankato (Minn.) State College, and dean of Hastings (Neb.) College.

Scarlett has served on the faculties of Bethel College in McKenzie, Tenn., Northwestern State College in Alva, Okla., and Kent State University.

He holds membership in a number of professional organizations and has been active in the Chamber of Commerce, the Presbyterian Church, both the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, and as the president of the Tennessee Lung Association.

Scarlett and his wife Caroline have three children, Jon, David, and Nancy, all graduates of Middle Tennessee.

Jury Finds In Favor Of State

City Ordered To Pay $2,308 To State In Fish Kill Here

By GENE McCUTCHEON
Managing Editor

A Calloway County Circuit Court jury determined Tuesday afternoon that the city of Murray must pay the state $2,308 for an estimated 14,381 "rough" and "game" fish killed in September of 1976 by sewage overflow from the city's water and sewer system.

The verdict came after a day-long trial and following close to an hour of deliberation by the 12-member jury.

The fine imposed by the jury was less than half the amount asked by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. In its suit against the city, the department asked for $5052.48, claiming the sewage from a lift station drained into Bee Creek and Clarks River killing the fish.

Testimony from witnesses from the state during Tuesday's trial enumerated the various types of fish the state had determined were killed by the sewage overflow. Pete Pfeiffer, assistant director of the Kentucky division of fisheries, said the division's estimate of the value of the fish killed amounted to the $5052.48 asked in the suit.

The fish kill occurred when one of two pumps at the Bee Creek lift station in the city sewer system malfunctioned causing an overload on the remaining pump. Raw sewage entered Bee Creek through an overflow pipe installed at the lift station.

The state stipulated that the city had built the lift station and was operating it in accordance with regulations of both state and federal environmental agencies.

City attorney Bill Phillips, in his final argument before the jury, said the pipe through which the overflow poured into the river had been approved by safety agencies "for just this kind of situation."

"It is difficult to say that it (the $2,308 award) was a penalty against the city because it was stipulated that we did nothing wrong as far as negligence was concerned," Phillips said today.

"I'm not convinced that the jury had a sufficient amount of evidence on damages on the cost to restock the river to come back with the verdict they did," Phillips added. "All the evidence pointed to the fact that the department had no intention of restocking the river."

"What the jury has done, in essence," Phillips said, "is give the state $2,000 of the city's money for no apparent reason."

During Tuesday's trial, Phillips questioned several department of fisheries employees called to the stand concerning the method used in determining the number of fish actually killed.

The state biologists and fishery officials said the number was determined by counting dead fish in three 100-yard segments of the 4.6 mile long "fish-kill" section and "extrapolating" the total figure from those counts.

Benjamin Kinler, a fish biologist with the state who participated in the department's investigation, testified under cross-examination that a formula was worked out to determine the total number based on the full length of the kill and the number of dead fish in the segments counted. He testified that the total was arrived at by multiplying the actual number counted by 27.

During his testimony, Pfeiffer listed the numbers of various fish determined killed by the department and the estimated value of the different species killed. Among those listed were 1,918 carp valued at $1,815.87 and 5,245 yellow bullhead catfish valued at $607.65. Gamefish included in the kill, according to Pfeiffer were 2,108 assorted sunfish, bluegill and perch valued at $700.18, 27 crappie valued at $22.95 and 27 large-mouth bass valued at $30.78.

"If the state wants to buy up any carp at their price (which converts to over 94 cents each) I believe we in Calloway County can seize up all they want," Murray Mayor Melvin B. Henley said when asked about the verdict.

"They stipulated that we weren't negligent and doing everything we were supposed to do," Henley said echoing Phillips' comment. "If that's the case, why do they down here to sue us?"

Henley also said that he thinks testimony during the trial that the game fish population is higher now than before the kill should have had some bearing on the case. That testimony came from Murray State University biology professor who said his count of fish in a 50 foot section of the stream May 1, using the state's extrapolation formula, would put the stream population of the section of the creek at near 10,000.

Both Phillips and Henley said it would be up to the Murray Common Council to determine whether or not the city would appeal the verdict. Phillips said he planned to give a report on the action to the council at its next meeting, May 11.

"It would probably cost us the amount of the fine to appeal the thing," Henley said, "but the final decision on an appeal will be up to the council and I would recommend that the council follow the advice of the city attorney."

"My personal opinion," Henley added, "is that you very seldom get justice in Frankfort and I'd be reluctant to carry the thing there."

Paul Gaines, attorney for the state, said this was the first of its kind to go to a jury in Kentucky and added that he regarded the jury verdict as a victory for the state. He said the only other fish-kill actions against municipalities in the state had been settled out of court.

The instructions given the jury by Circuit Judge James Lassiter were that the jury should rule in favor of the state if it determined the city "placed or caused to be placed, in the water a substance making it unfit for aquatic life" or killed "restockable" fish. A limit of $4,510.52 was set on the amount the jury would direct the city to pay the state.

In Gaines Kidnapping Case

Authorities Searching For Another Suspect

By SKIP WOLLENBERG

Associated Press Writer
McKENZIE, Tenn. (AP) — A wealthy West Tennessee businessman's teen-age daughter had a harrowing tale to tell today to federal agents investigating her quarter million dollar kidnapping.

Seventeen miles away, David Michael Wilson, 25, and Andrew Dickson, 22, arrested in the case by the FBI, waited in separate jails for authorities to decide what to do with them. Officers hunted a third, unidentified abductor. Wilson's wife Patsy was questioned but released, the FBI said.

Neighbors said the two men moved into a Paris, Tenn., trailer park about a month earlier. A reporter was told Wilson gave his occupation as a truck driver and Dickson had worked cleaning television sets.

Jodie Elizabeth Gaines, 18, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gaines, came home Tuesday afternoon barefoot and in blue jeans, with her brother's red rose in her hand. Neighbors and reporters stood cheering on the lawn of the two-story, white-brick house. A banner above the porch read, "Welcome Home Jodie."

It ended an ordeal begun Friday night when two gunmen in a car, posing as police, used a flashing blue light to stop her automobile on a lonely Carroll

County road and carried her away blindfolded. Left alone Monday night, handcuffed to an iron bed in a secluded one-room shack, she pounded the bed frame with her free hand for 10 hours until she broke the frame Tuesday morning and freed herself. Her mother, meanwhile, tried unsuccessfully to make a $250,000 payoff, her family gave up trying to deal with kidnapers and the FBI moved in.

The Tennessean, Nashville's morning newspaper, reported in a copyrighted story that Jodie, wandering down a dirt lane Tuesday morning, stumbled on a fisherman and was taken by two women passers-by to their rural home. Officers arriving for the rescue had to prove at gunpoint that they were genuine, one of the women said.

FBI agent Joseph Trimbach said Miss Gaines was unharmed. Her father told an afternoon news conference she wasn't up to appearing before the

He's Got His Wife's Number

DEAR ABBY: Recently I attended a 30-year reunion of my high school graduation class in a small town in California. My husband came along and I introduced him as "No. 5." My former classmates treated me as though I had leprosy.

Abby, not everybody marries their high school sweethearts, and many of us have not remained in an unhappy marriage just to save face. I grew up in an era when it was taboo to live with someone before marriage, and a sin to try someone out in bed. So consequently I made four mistakes in a row. Luckily I kept looking, and I found my present husband to whom I have been married for 10 years. I've never been happier.

I'm not saying that being married five times is something to be proud of. What I am saying is, it's nothing to be ashamed of either. And aren't we all entitled in this life to our own pursuit of happiness? Sign me...

FIFTH TIME AROUND

DEAR FIFTH: I see your point, but when you introduce your husband as "No. 5," you give the impression that you're proud of it.

Don't be defensive. Just introduce your husband by his name—not his number—and you won't need an antidote for leprosy.

DEAR ABBY: I have a boyfriend and we were kissing. Right in the middle of it he said, "Boy, you sure do kiss good, but not as good as Carol or Cindy." What would you do if your boyfriend compared you with other girls?

JUST TURNED 12

DEAR JUST: I'd either get another boyfriend, or I'd try to improve my kissing.

DEAR ABBY: With the Catholic Church becoming so liberal these past few years, can you tell me whether the church now permits its members to join the Masonic Order? Or is it the Masons who won't take Catholics?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: The general prohibition against Catholics joining the Masonic Order remains in force under the present law of the church. I am told that Masons would accept Catholics—if the Catholic Church would permit them to join.

DEAR ABBY: Re SUSPICIOUS who found hidden in his wife's closet six beautiful sheer nightgowns which he had never seen before. This appears to be a sheer case of negligence!

Derby Time Poem Is Written By Murrayan

Mrs. Hildred Sharp of Murray has a hobby of writing poems and submitted the following one for publication:

"Spring Time In Kentucky"

When it's spring time in Kentucky
And the Blue Grass coming up
It's time to go to the Churchill Downs
And have a julep cup.

The jockeys are so pretty
Dressed blue and red
Setting in pretty horses
With their tails as high as their heads
And when they come around the bend
You wonder which will win.

If it happen to be yours
You take it with a grin
You must go to Old Kentucky
When Derby time rolls around

You think you are in Heaven
With the Blue Grass all around.

You get yourself a julep cup
You're really having fun
You bet your money on Old Black Joe
And then he didn't run.

You throw away your Julep cup
You say "Oh what a sin"
I don't think I will ever come
To Old Kentucky again.

When it's spring time in Kentucky
And the Blue Grass coming up
You still have a yearning
For that good old Julep cup.

Senators And Foreign Trips

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — You don't have to be a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to love overseas trips. If Sen. S.I. Hayakawa wants to go to Africa he can always study palm trees or aquaculture.

The California Republican is a member of the committees on Human Relations and Agriculture, neither of which gets involved very often with foreign policy.

But like most senators, Hayakawa is very interested in foreign and defense policy.

Recently, he told reporters he hopes to go to Africa and visit Rhodesia, Zambia and Botswana to meet with different factions involved in efforts to establish black majority rule in Rhodesia.

"Would the trip be charged against a committee?" the senator was asked.

"I'm applying to one of my committees for funding of it," he said.

"Which one?"

"Since Human Resources backed the last one, I guess I have to ask Agriculture this time," said the senator.

"What would be the tie-in with agriculture?"

"I'll have to examine palm trees," said Hayakawa. "I know what I'll do, I'll have to examine aquaculture."

"I just had a big hearing on aquaculture. It isn't difficult to find a tie-in .... Once the agriculture committee decides they'd like to fund it, they'll have plenty of questions for me to ask when I get there."

If Carter keeps his promise to Sen. James Abourezk, who is unhappy with developments in the struggle for an energy bill, there may be a few sleepless nights at the White House.

You may recall that the South Dakota Democrat's brief rebellion was spawned when he awakened about 3 a.m. one day and began thinking about the energy bill. The more he thought, the angrier he got.

Finally, he fired off a letter to Carter saying that unless the president backed continued price controls on natural gas and also supported opening the meetings of the Senate-House conference committee, he was going to vote against the treaty to relinquish control of the canal to Panama.

Carter received the letter and called the senator.

"I understand you're unhappy with me," said the president.

Abourezk explained how he had awakened and had become upset and written his letter.

Said the president to the senator: "Jim, the next time you wake up like that and you're upset about something, just call me and we'll talk about it."

The $2 Bettor Is A Die-Hard

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The odds are 100-to-1 that he won't be sitting in a box seat on Derby Day.

He will be among the thousands wandering through the grandstand or the infield at Churchill Downs, exchanging tips on the sure things. No one is a stranger when you're trying to beat the ponies.

He knows the bloodlines and performance record of many of the thoroughbreds. If he doesn't, the Racing Form will provide the missing information.

He watches the horses parade to the post, takes one final look at the tote board, sees something he likes, then makes a mad dash toward the "WIN" window.

He's the $2 bettor — the guy who always hopes he can pick a long shot or walk away with the daily double.

He's a die-hard, staying until the last race is run, praying that he can beat one home and break even for the day.

If he doesn't, the losses are shrugged off. He had taken $25 to the track; it permitted him to put something down on every race and still have enough left over for hot dogs and beer.

Heading toward the parking lot, he wondered what went wrong. Maybe he had misread the Form. Maybe he didn't understand some of the language peculiar to horsemen everywhere.

For "Mr. Average," as he prefers to be called, here's a brief glossary that may be helpful when he shows up at the Downs on May 6, the day they run the 104th Derby.

"The chalk horse bolted, ignored driving and it was a blanket finish."

TRANSLATION: The favorite roamed all over the grounds, ignored the jockey's whip and crossed the finish line accompanied by 15 other loafers.

"She was on the bit, but a maiden was up and he came a cropper."

TRANSLATION: The horse was ready to run. She had a winless jockey in the saddle and he goofed.

"That horse is a dud on pastureboard; she's strictly a mudlark."

TRANSLATION: Can't run on a fast track. In the mud, nobody can catch her.

"She was tops on the morning line but later was excused."

TRANSLATION: The horse was a heavy favorite on the day of the race but never made it to the starting gate, for one reason or another.

"She was a lunger, so the hard boot put her on the leaky roof circuit."

TRANSLATION: The horse was hard to handle, wouldn't sit still. The owner started her on virtually unknown tracks.

There's no guarantee that any of the above will help "Mr. Average" pocket a wad of greenbacks.

He must remember that horses, like people, are temperamental.

They are, however, supposed to be running many distances faster today than they did 30 years ago — Unless he bets on them.

A Weakness Of Managers

NEW YORK (AP) — One of corporate America's big weaknesses, said the management analyst, is that it has a lot of problem solvers but few turnaround managers.

The latter, said Eugene Jennings, can restructure a sick company and build a lasting organization — new image, new direction, sound financing, strong executive staff.

The former, capable in their own right, handle one problem at a time, a performance that can prove disastrous for crisis-ridden companies with fundamental, multiple, inter-related difficulties.

Jennings, management professor at Michigan State University, author and confidential adviser to top corporate executives, distinguishes between problems and crises in this manner:

"To managers, a problem to be solved is the choice between a current condition and a more desirable condition."

"A crisis is where a current condition is untenable if not intolerable, and the alleviation of it does not appear to be at hand."

Quite understandably, he observes, the crisis manager is very exceptional, very much in demand, and very much in short supply. There is no training ground for the crisis manager; he acts as he learns.

"Very few chief executives have a bullpen of turnaround managers in whom they have confidence to move a sick division or company efficiently and effectively," he comments. But many need such people.

Put a problem-solver in the job and he often turns too far or liquidates the management and assets, said Jennings, leaving the company without the energy it needs for the long haul.

"We have executives in great numbers who can clear up the balance sheet and the profitless statement, but we don't have as many who can rebuild the foundation," he said in an interview.

A consequence of this shows up in the nature of today's mergers and acquisitions, in which high-cost but quality companies are sought in preference to less costly but troubled concerns.

The latter, Jennings points out, might in the long run represent the better acquisition, but the absence of turnaround managers prevents the acquirer from taking the risk involved.

Probably one of the best crisis executives ever produced, Jennings believes, was Ernest Breech, who helped turn around a sick Ford Motor Co. Currently, he believes, Robert Wilson of Memorex Corp. is developing a turnaround reputation, which began at Collins Radio.

Meanwhile, the absence of crisis managers is forcing cash-rich, acquisition-minded companies to choose already well-managed concerns that can give them a quick earnings fix, said Jennings.

Because they cannot manage them, acquirers are reluctant to seek poorly managed concerns that, with defects eliminated, might be more desirable acquisitions in the long run.

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton Street, West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: I have just turned 65 years old and I am now on Medicare. Since I am new to this program, there are quite a few things I do not understand about it. I have read about doctors accepting assignment under Medicare. Can you tell me what this means and how it affects me? — K.R.

When a doctor accepts assignment, it simply means that he or she will accept whatever Medicare pays as 80 per cent of his bill, and will charge you only 20 per cent of what Medicare says is reasonable. It is up to your doctor as to whether or not he or she will accept assignment. The only way to find out is to ask him. Remember, just because your doctor accepts assignment on one claim, that does not necessarily mean he will on the next one.

Heartline must point out that very few doctors accept assignment, because the formula the Social Security Administration uses to determine what a doctor's reasonable charge should be is outdated. Due to this outdated formula, in many instances, the reasonable charge is only 60 to 70 per cent of the doctor's bill. For that reason most doctors do not accept assignment.

For people who are now on the Medicare program or will soon be turning 65 and going on Medicare, Heartline now has available their brand new 1978 version of "Heartline's Guide to Medicare." This book is still written in easy-to-understand question-and-answer form, but the 1978 issue has much more information. Included in the new issue are the new deductibles for part A medical insurance, more items and conditions that Medicare covers, and more concise explanation of reasonable charges, and detailed instructions on how to fill out your Medicare claim form.

You can receive the 1978 guide by sending $1.75 to Heartline's Guide to Medicare, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. This book is completely guaranteed and if you are not satisfied your money will be cheerfully refunded. Please allow six weeks for delivery.

HEARTLINE: I am 48 years old. I have been working my whole life under a Social Security-covered job. Since my husband has a good job and makes a very high salary, I am going to quit working. Since I am four years older than my husband, I will be starting Social Security before he does. Will I be able to collect benefits on my own work record at age 62 even though I will not have worked for the previous 14 years? — A.T.

Yes, you will be eligible for Social Security retirement on the basis of your own work record. Once a person has accumulated enough quarters of work to be eligible for retirement benefits, this can never be taken away from them. So, regardless of whether your husband is still working, you can draw Social Security benefits when you are 62.

HEARTLINE: I do quite a bit of traveling throughout the United States. Many times I will go by airplane. I am also on a medication that I must take daily. My question concerns my prescription drugs going through the X-ray machine at airport security check points. Do these X-ray machines have any effect on prescription drugs? — J.B.

No effect. While some dosages of the X-rays can be harmful to certain types of film, there is no effect when prescription drugs and vitamins are exposed — the exposure being for such a short length of time and the dosages very low. However, if you are worried, pack all such drugs in a separate bag and ask to have that bag hand-inspected as you go through the checkpoint, or carry the drugs through yourself. It's wiser, anyway, to pack all medicines in hand luggage in case your checked baggage is lost or delayed.

The 20% Limit And State Schools

FRANKFORT — The increasing costs for a college education across the nation probably figured in the request last week of Morehead State University regents for the Council on Higher Education to ease its policy of limiting enrollment of out-of-state students to 20 per cent.

Kentucky State University in Frankfort also made a similar plea the week before. These are the only two state-supported universities to exceed the 20 per cent limit. Morehead had about 22 per cent of its undergraduates from out of state while KSU ran to 33 per cent last fall.

In both instances the university authorities based much of their argument on the fact that out-of-state students at the two schools are children of alumni who have gone to other states to earn their living. Parents want their children to return to the school from which the parent graduated.

Murray State University and Western State University at Bowling Green both have received a compromise agreement from the Higher Education Council. These two schools have pacts with Tennessee, Missouri and Indiana for nearby counties in these states to send their children to the school without paying out-of-state fees which are higher than fees for Kentucky students. These students also don't count against the out-of-state enrollment figure.

In the case of Murray the concession was called necessary to fill up dormitory space that apparently was overbuilt in some booming years of the 1960s and early 1970s.

Morehead might well have a similar situation if the Council on Higher Education sticks firmly to its 20 per cent rule that was forced on the Council by legislatures in the past. Although a law was not passed to this effect, the Council adopted this policy to head off stringent legislation.

Last week Morehead increased the tuition fee $25 a semester for out-of-state undergraduate students which will make the annual tuition $1,250 per year.

The estimated cost of a year in college next fall will average about $2,475 as opposed to the average cost of $2,351 this year for Kentucky students in state-supported schools.

By S.C. Van Curen

There are federal grants and loan programs to help students whose families are not able to send them through college, but even this doesn't give all the answers to many who would like to obtain a higher education.

Some of them look at the time after they graduate to having to pay off the loans, and this might take them several years.

A recent national survey showed that students who work to pay at least part of their way stay in school on a higher average percentage basis than those who get loans and must repay them in the future. This especially true of the men, the survey showed. An analysis of the survey indicates that male students look at a debt burden they would have if they get married after college and begin to raise a family.

There are no accurate figures, available of the number of students at state-supported universities who work to pay their way through school or at least part of it.

However, Harry Snyder of the Council on Higher Education said a good ballpark estimate would be somewhere between 20 and 25 per cent. The schools know how many students get help through their job placement bureaus, but Snyder said that many students get jobs on their own and no record is kept of these.

Supermarkets, restaurants and many service establishments provide part-time jobs for students, and most of them must pay the minimum federal wage.

The national student work survey showed that students should not work more than 20 hours per week if the student carries a full load of courses for a semester. Some work more, but their study load is reduced.

There's always a way for a determined student to go to college if he is persistent enough and dedicated to that end.

Comedian Foster Brooks Will Be Pegasus Grand Marshal

The Kentucky Derby Festival is honored to have television star Foster Brooks as Grand Marshal of the 1978 Pegasus Parade. Brooks, a native of Louisville, will lead the hour and one-half parade down Broadway on Thursday afternoon, May 4, at 5:30 p.m.

Other Kentuckians honored in the past were: Colonel Harland D. Sanders; Denny Crum, University of Louisville basketball coach; Joe Hall, basketball coach at the University of Kentucky; and Lynn Stone, president of Churchill Downs.

Brooks credits Perry Como for giving him his start in show business. The two met at the Greensboro Open Golf Tournament where Brooks was entertaining. Como invited Brooks to appear with him at the Las Vegas Hilton. The engagement was so successful that Como asked Brooks to accompany him to Lake Tahoe. Today millions know Brooks for his famous "Lovable Lush" character.

Brooks is presently involved in various television shows. He received a great deal of recognition from the Dean Martin "roasts." Brooks is under contract with the Summa Corporation in Las Vegas. The firm represents the Desert Inn, Frontier, and the Sands Hotels.

He is presently working with Juliet Prowse and Robert Goulet. Several years ago, Brooks received the coveted "Comedian of the Year" Award.

He and his wife, Terri, are the proud parents of two daughters: Teri, Jr., 26 years old, and Scotti, 24 years old. Brooks is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Pleasant M. Brooks of Louisville.

The theme for the 1978 Kentucky Derby Festival 1978 Pegasus Parade is "Leisure Time." The colorful array of floats will feature sporting events, historic landmarks, picnics, cultural activities, and a variety of other imaginative and relaxing events. Some of the current themes include "Three Little Pigs," "My Land Is Your Land" and "Concert In The Park." The mile and one-half parade is scheduled for Thursday, May 4. This year's route will run west on Broadway from Campbell Street to 9th Street.

Other Parade entries include 14 equestrian units, 35 marching bands, clowns, outstanding celebrities and over 20 brightly decorated floats.

TO PRESENT CONCERT—The Murray State University Music Department in the College of Creative Expression will present the Southwest High School Band in concert on Thursday, May 4, at 11:30 a.m. in the Old Recital Hall in the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center, Murray State.

The band is from one of the twenty high schools in the public school system of the city of St. Louis, Mo., with Robert W. Nordman as director of bands. This is the fifth annual concert tour by the SWHS Band. The public is invited to hear this band which has released four albums during the past eight years.

Jodie Gaines Freed Herself By Struggling Over 10 Hours

By SKIP WOLLENBERG Associated Press Writer
McKENZIE, Tenn. (AP) — Jodie Gaines, kidnapped by gunmen posing as police, handcuffed to an iron bed and left alone in a one-room shack, freed herself by pounding on the bedframe for 10 hours until it broke.

FBI agent Joseph Trimbach said the 18-year-old Miss Gaines was unharmed. He said he talked informally with her Tuesday night and agents would interview her more thoroughly today.

Arrested by the FBI were

David Michael Wilson, 25, and Andrew Dickson, 22, both of the Paris, Tenn., area. Wilson's wife, Patsy, was questioned but released, the FBI said. Officers hunted a third, unidentified abductor.

No charges were filed and the FBI did not say where the arrests were made.

Agents recovered a $250,000 ransom dropped by Miss Gaines' mother in a ditch in Tennessee Monday night.

Miss Gaines came home Tuesday afternoon barefoot and in blue jeans, a red rose from her brother in her hand. Neighbors and reporters stood cheering on the lawn of the Gaines' two-story, white-brick house. A banner above the porch read, "Welcome Home Jodie."

Ben Gaines, a wealthy businessman, told reporters his daughter wasn't up to appearing before the crowd.

The joyous welcoming hubbub was a stark contrast to the young woman's harrowing ordeal, which began Friday night when two men in a car used a flashing blue light to stop her automobile on a deserted Carroll County road.

Home from her private Memphis school for a three-day weekend, Jodie had dined with her parents at the Carroll County Golf Club and was bound for her cousin's two miles away when she was stopped.

Her brother, Ben Jr., 20, said Tuesday night, "They told her they were undercover agents and they had a drug bust at the country club. They told her that she had left mysteriously and she was go back with them. Then they grabbed her."

At gunpoint, she was blindfolded, forced to lie on the floor of her car and driven off. She slept that night on the ground and was taken to the shack the next day.

Left alone Monday night, handcuffed to an iron bed, she managed to break the bedframe by beating on it with her free hand for 10 hours.

The Tennessee, Nashville's morning newspaper, reported in a copyright story that Jodie, wandering down a dirt lane Tuesday morning, stumbled onto fisherman John Owens.

'Earplay' Is Named Peabody Award Winner

By: Donna Simmons

"Earplay," an original radio drama series heard over WKMS-FM radio, has been named a recipient of a 1977 Peabody Award for excellence in broadcasting.

In presenting the award, the Peabody Board praised the public broadcasting series for its quality of production, writing, acting, sound effects, music, and direction. In addition, the board stated that the series "provides a level of quality which has otherwise almost disappeared from radio broadcasting."

"Earplay's" contributors have included writers Edward Albee and John Gardner and performers Irene Worth, Mildred Dunnock, and Robert Lansing.

The Peabody Awards annually recognize the most distinguished and meritorious public service rendered each year by radio and television. Broadcast locally over WKMS, "Earplay" is heard each Saturday evening at 7. WKMS, located at 91.3 on the FM band, is a broadcasting service of Murray State University.

Forsch Comes Back To Get Shutout

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

For a while there, Bob Forsch of no-hit fame seemed to have lost the touch.

In the first start after his memorable game against the Philadelphia Phillies on April 16, he got blasted by the Pittsburgh Pirates. Then he was decked by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Before Tuesday's game against the San Francisco Giants, it looked like it was going to be another of those bad days.

"He said he didn't feel too good and didn't have his stuff," said catcher Ted Simmons.

But whatever magic it is that a good pitcher finds in his baseball, Forsch came up with it against the Giants, pitching a five-hitter in the Cardinals' 9-0 victory.

Forsch opened the season impressively, scoring 6-1 decisions over Philadelphia and Pittsburgh before his 3-0 no-hitter over the Phillies. But he was knocked out in subsequent 14-7 and 7-1 losses to Pittsburgh and Los Angeles.

His shutout Tuesday, incidentally, was the third in four games under new Manager Ken Boyer.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Chicago Cubs edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4 in 10 innings; the San Diego Padres stopped Pittsburgh 2-1 and the Atlanta Braves defeated the New York Mets, 5-4. Cold weather postponed the Houston-Montreal game.

Murray High Girls Get Win In Triangular Meet

The Murray High Girls' track team came away with a narrow win in a triangular meet held Tuesday at Trigg County.

Murray scored 58½ points while second-place Mayfield had 57½ points. Trigg County was third with 36½ points.

Stacy Overbey was a double winner for the Tigers, taking first in both hurdling events. She won the 60-yard hurdles in 9.1 and the 110 hurdles in 16.8.

Individually, the Tigers had only one other first. That came from seventh grade standout Charlotte Shroat who recorded an outstanding 65.7 in the 440-yard dash for a new personal best.

It was the relay teams that proved to be the difference for the Tiger girls. The Tigers won all four of the relays, accounting for 20 points.

In the 440-yard relay, the Tigers had a 53.1 as Jaina Washer, Shroat, Star Jones and Brenda Adams ran the legs. In the 880-yard relay, the Tigers had a 1:54.1 with Washer, Jones, Tammy Campbell and Adams composing the team.

Manny Trillo's 10th-inning double drove in the winning run as Chicago defeated Los Angeles. Bruce Sutter pitched 11-3 innings in relief of Cubs starter Rick Reuschel to pick up the victory.

Padres 2, Pirates 1
Bob Owcinko scattered nine hits and Derrel Thomas scored two runs to lead San Diego over Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh starter John Candelaria suffered his fourth loss in five decisions this season. Owcinko raised his record to 2-2 with his first complete game in five starts.

Braves 5, Mets 4
Biff Pocoroba's two-out, run-scoring single capped a two-run rally in the last of the ninth inning, leading Atlanta over New York. With one out in the Atlanta ninth, pinch-hitter Cito Gaston drew a walk off Bob Myrick. Successive singles by Jerry Royster and Barry Bonnell loaded the bases before Myrick walked Jeff Burroughs to force in the tying run.

FOOTBALL

NEW YORK — The Houston Oilers selected Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell of the University of Texas as their No. 1 choice in the opening round of the National Football League's college draft. Kansas City, making the second selection, chose University of Kentucky defensive end Art Still.

Second places for the Tigers came from Jaina Washer with a 12.4 in the 100; Jaina Washer with a 14.4 in the long jump; Martha Pitman with a 4-6 in the high jump; and Harriet Hood with a personal best of 67.4 in the quarter.

Third places included a 9.8 by Betsy Gore in the 60-yard low hurdles; Althea Parham with a 29.0 in the 220-yard dash; Harriet Hood with a 4-3 in the high jump; and Carlesta Catlett with a 3:08.3 in the 880.

Winning fourth places were Lynn Beatty with a 7:14.3 in the mile; Jana Bell with a 30.4 in the 220; Stacey Mobley with a 27-3 in the shot put; and Jaina Washer with a personal best of 80-5 in the discus, breaking her previous best by 25 feet.

The Tiger girls will participate in the WKC Girls' Meet at MSU Saturday.

Murray Whips Mayfield, Reidland To Go To 12-2

You can't beat Murray High for consistency. And for that matter, you can't beat them either...at least very often.

Running their season record to an impressive 12-2, the Tigers chalked up two more wins Tuesday...winning both games by 7-4 scores.

In the first game, the Tigers had some fine hurling by Bob Thurman and won at Mayfield. Then in the nightcap, Alan Gibbs and Kim Wilson combined to defeat Reidland.

Thurman worked six and one-third innings of the opener and gave up all four runs. He fanned eight batters and walked four. Brad Taylor came in to finish up on the hill.

Murray took a 3-0 lead in the first inning as Thomas Kendall doubled into rightcenter then walks to Bill Wilson and Thurman loaded the bases. Dean Cherry walked to force in a run then Alan Gibbs singled for an RBI and John Denham walked to force in the final run of the frame.

Mayfield scored two in their half of the first on one swing of the bat. Jesse Holder walked with two men out and Gary Hobbs drilled a two-run, 360-foot shot into rightcenter for a homerun.

In the third, Brad Taylor led off with a single and after two were out, Denham laced a curve ball down the line to the opposite field (right) to drive in the fourth Tiger run. Murray added three more in the fourth for a 7-2 lead with all the runs coming on one play.

A bases-loaded single into left by Brad Taylor scored two runs and when the ball got past the Mayfield leftfielder, another run came across.

Mayfield made it 7-3 in the fifth on a homer by Richard Riley then in the seventh, the Cardinals added an unearned run when Greg Puckett led off by reaching on an error then Mark Jackson walked.

Mark Shelton followed with a long single to the fence in rightcenter and Puckett scored. Murray rightfielder Alan Gibbs retrieved the ball and uncorked a tremendous rifle shot to first baseman Dean Cherry who in turn fired a perfect peg to the plate to nail Jackson for the first out. Taylor then came in and fanned Riley before Greg Hawkins bounced out to third to end the game.

The Tigers had five stolen bases in the contest.

The throw by Gibbs in the game at Mayfield must have loosened his arm up because Reidland couldn't touch the hard-throwing junior in the nightcap at Holland Stadium.

Gibbs faced nine batters in the first three innings. Six of them went down on strikes and the other three were routine outs. Gibbs was removed because Tiger coach Cary Miller just wanted to give the young pitcher a chance to pitch some this week before next week's tourney play opens.

Murray scored four times in the first off Reidland. Two walks and a single by Bob Thurman loaded the bases then after one out, Dean Cherry reached on an E-5 to score a run. Gibbs was hit by a pitch to score another run for a 2-0 lead before David Mathis ripped a two-run single.

The Tigers made it 5-0 in the second when Thurman singled to drive in a run and in the fifth, Murray added two more for a 7-0 lead.

Bill Wilson opened the fifth with a double and was wild pitched to third. After one man was out, Brad Taylor drew a walk. Cherry followed with a sacrifice fly, scoring Wilson. Consecutive singles by Gibbs and Mathis accounted for the last Tiger run.

Reidland scored two in the sixth and added two more in the seventh to make the margin of defeat a bit more respectable.

Kim Wilson allowed all six Reidland hits in his four innings of work while walking two and fanning four. Gibbs received credit for the win.

Murray will play a twinbill at Henry County Thursday before closing regular season play with a home game against Fulton County Friday.

His brother, Donnie Allison, had the second fastest time, 186.593 mph in a Chevrolet.

A total of 59 cars have entered the $250,000 Winston 500. The 40 fastest cars will be chosen for the starting field in qualifying heats beginning Thursday.

Spring Workouts Tough On Coaches And Players

BASE HIT—Kenneth McCuiston of the Lakers has his eyes on the ball as it leaves the bat for a single. The Lakers took an 8-6 win over Farmington Tuesday afternoon.

OUT AT THE PLATE—Farmington catcher Mike Kendall puts the tag on Kenneth McCuiston of the Lakers. McCuiston tried to score on a groundout but was nailed at home.

Lakers Come Back For Win Over Farmington

A three-run outbreak in the last of the sixth inning carried host Calloway County to an 8-6 win over Farmington in a game played Tuesday at the Murray-Calloway County Park.

Danny Rogers, working in relief of Kelly Rogers, hurled the final four and two-thirds innings for the Lakers. He scattered five hits and gave up three Wildcat runs.

Farmington scored an unearned run in the top of the first inning but the Lakers were lucky to get out of the inning down only 1-0 as the Wildcats jammed the bases with nobody out.

Calloway came back with an unearned run of their own in the last of the first to tie the game and it remained 1-1 until Kelly Rogers ran into trouble in the top of the third. With one on and two out, Rogers gave up a single then two consecutive walks followed by a two-run single made it a 4-1 Farmington lead.

Calloway scored a "gimme" on a walk and wild pitches in the third before Farmington added two more in the top of the fourth for a 6-2 lead and the Wildcats were seemingly heading toward victory.

But as they often do, an error played a big role in the Laker Fifth. Gene Lockhart led off the inning with a roller toward second but reached on an error. Freshman shortstop James Bynum followed with a single down the leftfield line. The Lakers made it 6-3 when Danny Rogers drilled a single then lefthanded-swinging Kenneth McCuiston ripped a double and two runs crossed, making it 6-5. Keith Edwards followed with a single to put men on at the corners with

Signs For Bout

TOKYO (AP)—Undefeated champion Yoko Gushiken of Japan and challenger Jaime Rios of Panama signed a contract today for their World Boxing Association junior flyweight title fight in Hiroshima, western Japan, next Sunday.

The title bout is scheduled for 15 rounds at the 10,000-seat Hiroshima Prefectural Gymnasium.

The 22-year-old Gushiken, Japan's only reigning world champion, will be making his fifth title defense. He won the crown for boxing's lightest division — 108 pounds — in October 1976.

Rios, 24, former WBA junior flyweight champion and currently ranked as the No. 1 contender, will be making his second challenge against Gushiken, who won a split decision over Rios in Tokyo Jan. 30, 1977.

Gushiken will enter the ring with a record of 13-0, including eight knockouts. Rios has a record of 21-3-1, including 10 knockouts.

nobody out but the Lakers had two consecutive strikeouts and a groundout and failed to score again.

Rogers set down Farmington in the top of the sixth then in the home half of the inning, freshman first sacker Tim McAlister led off with a single.

After one man had been retired, James Bynum walked. Rogers then came through and aided his own cause with the key hit of the game, a two-run double into the rightcenter power alley.

Rogers later scored an insurance run by coming in on a wild pitch.

Rogers retired the side in order in the top of the seventh to shut the door on Farmington.

Rogers, McCuiston and Keith Edwards all had two hits apiece for the Lakers who are now 5-9 on the season.

Calloway is scheduled to play at Wingo today before closing regular season play Friday with a game at Reagan Field against St. Mary's.

Murray High Golfers Win In Triangular

The Murray High golf team improved its season record to 7-4 by winning a triangular match at Fulton City Tuesday.

The Tigers scored a 166 while Fulton City was second with a 174 total and Marshall County third with a 178.

Murray's Lynn Sullivan claimed medalist honors with a 38 while teammate Trent Jones was second with a 39. Rounding out the Tigers' top four were Howard Boone and Mark Erwin with 43 and 46 respectively.

For Fulton, Scott Miller shot a 41, Jay Graves and Andrew Nelson 44 and Greg Hagan 45. For Marshall County, Kerry Creason had a 41, Steve Beckett 43, Marty Ross 47 and Jeff Wiseman 47.

The Tigers are at Mayfield today for a quadrangular with the Cardinals, Reidland and Marshall County.

By MIKE BRANDON

Ledger & Times Sports Editor Mike Gottfried is considering buying some tee shirts for his football players. "This is the toughest spring practice I've been through since I've been coaching," Gottfried said on the eve of Thursday's Blue-Gold Game at Murray State University. "I'm even considering getting them some tee shirts with 'I survived' printed on the front. It's been a very long and a very physical spring practice for us. We started up with 100 people out for our team and ended up with 68," the first-year coach added.

The 68 who are left will compose the two teams for Thursday's 7:30 p. m. game. "To build a successful football program at Murray is going to take four years. We need good back-to-back recruiting for three years to establish a program that will be continually good," Gottfried said.

Gottfried and his staff will waste little time in trying for their second good back-to-back year of recruiting. The staff will hit the recruiting trail for next year within hours after the spring game is history.

When Gottfried and his staff came here in January, there were just three people on the team who could bench press 300 pounds. "We have a philosophy... don't spend your time, invest it. And we feel we've invested in a good, long program."

"The team attitude has been good throughout the spring and we've tried to coach them with a very positive approach. Earlier this week, Bill Shannon and Arthur Hughes both hit 300 pounds on the bench press."

"That gives us 20 people now who can bench press 300 and that's exactly what we wanted for this time of the year. "We're very concerned about next season. At this point, we have too many weaknesses to be a good team. The success of our first year at Murray will be dependent on the freshmen."

"The condition of our offensive line is critical and unless it is aided by freshmen, we'll be in definite trouble. I feel our first year of recruiting was good but by no means great."

"We had a late start and that hurt our junior college recruiting. And the junior college ranks is the most immediate source of finding help in an offensive line. We ended up with no junior college people," Gottfried added.

However, while the offensive line may not be a powerhouse, it's not too bad either. Dan Hutchison is a veteran at the left guard spot.

Laker Boys Place Third In Triangular

The Calloway County boys' track team placed third in a triangular at Heath Tuesday. Heath won the meet with 74 points while Fulton City was second with 57 and Calloway third with 39.

The Lakers did manage to take some wins though. Ron Childress had a 39-7 to win the shot put and, he doubled with a victory in the discus where he won first with a throw of 116-11. The other Laker win came from Jimmy Lamb who cleared 5-8 for first in the high jump.

Second places for the Lakers came from Gary Emerson with a 19-4 in the long jump; Keith Todd with a 9-0 in the pole vault; Terry Adams with a 16.7 in the 120 high hurdles; and Terry Adams with a 22.3 in the 180 low hurdles.

The 880-yard relay team composed of Danny Lamb, Darvin Stom, Freddie Vincent and Shane Morton placed second in 1:51.

Third places came from Gary Emerson with a 37-4 1/4 in the triple jump; Keith Todd with a 20.9 in the high hurdles; Jimmy Lamb with a 57.5 in the quarter and Emerson with a 22.9 in the low hurdles.

Fourth places came from Adams with an 18-6 3/4 in the long jump; Adams with a 37-3 1/4 in the triple jump; Marty Wyatt with a 5:29 in the mile-run and Freddie Vincent with a 2:31 in the 880.

The Lakers will be at Ballard Memorial Thursday for a triangular with the hosts and Fulton City.

The rest of the offensive line has some talent but not that much experience.

"I'd say at present we have two or three offensive linemen who can play for us. Depth is going to be a big problem as we've lost many fine performers off last year's 6-5 team," Gottfried added.

"In addition, we had four people who were supposed to help us and they quit. It's just going to take some time to get this program back to where it needs to be."

"We're piecing together the recruiting program right now and once we have our feet on the ground, we will be able to recruit ahead of time for what we'll need the following year."

"I feel we have as fine a staff as there is anywhere and the reception we've had from the university and the community has been outstanding. We have and will continue to make every effort to establish Murray State University's football program to a high standard."

"I promise one thing... that when this football team represents Murray next fall, they'll play with a lot of enthusiasm and heart. They've given us every effort possible in the spring and done everything we've asked."

"The schedule next fall will be tough. We play the top three finishers from the 1977 season all on the road and that's tough for a young ballclub," Gottfried added. Gottfried is doing some work on the schedule and is currently trying to get some teams from the East and West on the Racer schedule.

Defensively, the Racers look tough. Two finer defensive tackles can't be found as the Racers have All-Conference performer Bruce Martin returning and also Chuck Marquess, who was injured in the latter part of last season.

David Reagan has been moved from a linebacker spot to a defensive end position and with Bill Shannon, gives the Racers a lot of experience at the end spots.

The linebacking corps is experienced and hard hitters while the defensive backfield will be rather young but has some talent.

Offensively, Mike Dickens will of course miss Thursday's Blue-Gold Game since he's still in a cast. But the quarterback situation looks good and people should be impressed with Roger Rushing.

The backfield has break-away potential with Danny Johnson and Lindsey Hudspeth both starting while the Racers should have some of the finest receivers in the league. The receiving corps will be headed by All-OVC tight end David Thomas who makes up for his lack of speed with good hands and great power.

The Blue-Gold Game will be pitting first team offense against second team defense and second team offense against first string defense. A large crowd is expected for the game.

Vail Recalled

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have recalled outfielder Mike Vail from their Portland AAA affiliate to fill the roster spot left vacant by injured pitcher Wayne Garland.

Garland, who will undergo an operation Friday to repair a torn rotator cuff in his right shoulder, was placed on the 21-day disabled list Tuesday, but is unlikely to pitch again this season.

Vail, who was purchased from the New York Mets during spring training, was the final player cut by the Indians before the season began. The 26-year-old outfielder was hitting a robust .367, with four homers and 15 runs batted in, in 14 games in Portland.

Kentucky League Tryout Dates Set

Kentucky League tryouts will be held at the league field May 5 and May 6.

Boys and girls, ages nine and 10, who will not be 11 before August 1 are eligible to play in the league this season. Registration forms for the league are available in all of the elementary schools.

The May 5 tryouts will begin at 4 p.m. and the May 6 tryouts will start at 9 a.m.

Players are asked to bring along their form, filled out by a parent. If you played on a team last year, you need not try out for a team but you still need to bring along the form on one of the days. Also, players who played last year are asked to name the team on which they played.

For more information, contact Jimmy Nix at 753-3735.

For youngsters who did not get a form, they may be picked up at Dennison-Hunt Sporting Goods.

Players are asked to bring along their gloves to the tryouts.

Also, there will be application forms available at the tryouts for youngsters who have been unable to obtain the forms.

Calloway Girls' Track Team Wins Triangular

The Calloway County girl's track team easily won a triangular meet at Heath Tuesday.

Calloway amassed 84 1/2 points for first place while Fulton City had 42 1/2 and Heath 26.

In the track events, Felecia Pinner won the 100-yard dash with a 12.0 and also took wins in the 220 with a 27.5 and the quarter with a 63.2. Melissa Miller won the half-mile with a 2:38 while in the mile-run, Rose Ross won with a personal best of 6:09.6. Ross also won the 110-yard hurdles in 16.8.

In other track events, Ellen Mahan was second in the 100 with a 12.5; Dee Dee Darnell second in the 220 with a 29.6; Tammy Torsak had a 73.5 and was third in the quarter; Melissa Miller was third in the 110 hurdles with a 17.4 clocking; and Penny Overbey had fourths in the 60-yard hurdles and the mile. She had an 11.2 in the hurdles and a 6:48 in the mile.

Calloway took first in the three relays. In the 440-yard relay, the Laker team composed of Leslie Atkins, Kim Marrs, Dee Darnell and Gina Hoke won in 56.5. The 880-medley relay team of Hoke, Darnell, Mina Todd and Mahan won in 2:04.5 while the mile-relay team of Mahan, Ross, Miller and Pinner won with a 4:27.6.

In the field events, Mina Todd won the shot put with a 28-3, the long jump with a 15-1 1/2 and the high jump with a 4-6. Second places came from Stephanie Wyatt with a personal best of 90-6 1/2 in the discus, while Hoke tied for second with a 14-2 1/2 in the long jump.

Wyatt had a third with a 27-7 in the shot put while Mary Wagoner's 85-2 placed third in the discus. Kim Johnson had fourth places in the high jump with a 4-2 and in the long jump with a 13-9 1/4.

The Lakers are at Ballard Memorial Thursday for a triangular with the hosts and Fulton City.

Named Captain

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—James Donaldson, a 7-foot-2 center who led Washington State University to a 16-11 record last season, has been named captain of next year's Cougar basketball team.

Donaldson, from Sacramento, Calif., set a Cougar record by playing 998 minutes during the 1977-78 season.

He averaged 12.6 points and 11.3 rebounds per game last season, while shooting 52.2 percent from the field.

TRIPLE WINNER—Seventh grader Judy Tucker of Southwest rounds the final curve in the 220-yard dash. It was one of three events Tucker won in the dual meet with North Calloway.

Official Surprised At Early Calls On Welfare Fraud

By HERBERT SPARROW
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—The man responsible for weeding out welfare frauds in Kentucky says he is surprised at the early use of a toll free telephone line for reporting alleged welfare cheating.

Calls have been coming in at the rate of 70 per day during the first week of the phone line, which was opened April 24.

"It's a little better than I had thought, especially since we have not had comprehensive statewide exposure," said William Burkett, inspector general in the state Department for Human Resources. "I had not expected that volume and it may not hold up."

Burkett said he was not surprised that the bulk of the initial calls are from the Louisville and Jefferson County area, where a state effort was recently begun to weed out welfare cheaters. He said between 50 and 60 percent of the calls have been from the Louisville area, while a large number also have come from the northern Kentucky area, where his office will next center its investigations.

"The largest number of complaints have involved public assistance," Burkett said.

He said the complaints were generally of two different types, either a person not reporting the proper income or a man living in the home of a family receiving aid to families with dependent children.

Burkett said there also have been some complaints about people using more than one name to get multiple grants.

"Surprisingly, there have not been many extraneous calls," Burkett said. "Only one or two have been totally unrelated. One was about a fraudulent land scheme in western Kentucky which we turned over to the attorney general's office."

Burkett said the complaints are turned over to the 20 investigators in his office for further checking. He said it is too early to tell how many will need detailed investigations or how many are valid.

"However, from the kind of details we are getting it leads us to believe a large percentage will be valid," he said. "They are giving very specific, concrete information, and many are leaving names."

crowd. Trimbach talked informally Tuesday night with Miss Gaines, a student at a private Memphis prep school. Agents planned more thorough interviews with her today, Trimbach said.

Home for a three-day weekend, Jodie had dined with her parents at the Carroll County Golf Club and was bound for her cousin's two miles away when she was stopped.

Her brother, Ben Jr., 20, said Tuesday night, "They told her they were undercover agents and they had a drug bust at the country club. They told her that she had left mysteriously and she was to go back with them. Then they grabbed her."

At gunpoint, she was forced to lay on the floor of her car and was driven off. She slept that night on the ground and was taken to the shack the next day. That morning, one of the kidnapers called her mother, Lodie, demanding the ransom for her return. He said he would call back.

Mrs. Gaines contacted police, a description of Jodie's car was broadcast. Through the FBI, the family asked reporters not risk Jodie's life by reporting the kidnapping. But word was already circulating in this close-knit town of 5,500.

The kidnapers failed to call by

Sunday afternoon and sister Patti, 31, made a public plea for a call, pledging cooperation and no FBI interference. Monday morning, the call came, sending Mrs. Gaines to a telephone at a Paris restaurant. She took two calls — demanding in the first an answer to a question that only Jodie could supply, and in the second taking directions to a Murray, Ky., fried chicken stand. From there she was sent back across the border to a ransom-drop near Puryear, Tenn., near the border and then home. Word of Jodie was promised by 3:30 a.m. (CST).

Dawn passed with none. Gaines, president of furniture-producing Gaines Manufacturing, unleashed the FBI. "We asked for the money to be picked up and brought back and put a full court press on trying to hold every hill and every holler in this community because I could not stand the idea of my daughter — I knew she had to be going through a lot of torment and a lot of tragedy — and I could not stand for that to continue any longer." Agents retrieved the undisturbed cloth bag full of money from a ditch.

Meanwhile, Jodie broke the bed and fled, a handcuff dangling from a wrist. Fisherman John R. Owens, a retired policeman tenting beside the Big Sandy River, told Tennessean reporter Susan

Thomas that Jodie stumbled upon him. "I'm lost," she said. "I'm Jodie Gaines. I've been kidnapped."

"She threw her arms around me and hugged my neck when she found out I wasn't going to hurt her," he told Mrs. Thomas.

Owens thought the girl a runaway. She convinced him otherwise and he hid her in his tent. Wallace Hudson, who lives 50 yards away, came by and went for police. His wife, Edith, and her aunt, Mrs. Harold Watson, happened along and took Jodie to the house. "While the kidnapers were with her they must have talked very rough to her," Mrs. Hudson said. "She was afraid to death they would come back and find her."

Jodie told her, "They knew every move I made. They knew my parents and they knew how much money we had. They knew an awful lot about us."

Agents arrived with weapons. Jodie, fearing more impostors, panicked. "Please don't let them in," she cried, jumping to the floor and crawling to a bedroom. The women held a shotgun and a deer rifle on the officers until Mrs. Hudson recognized a local cop.

They took her to a clinic for an examination and a family reunion.

"It's a tragedy we live in a country ... where things like this have to happen for money," her father said.

Real Estate Market Still Ripe Around LBL, Local Realtor Says

By T. G. Moore
Associated Press Writer
BENTON, Ky. (AP) — A real estate boom in Kentucky's Land Between the Lakes region that began about eight years ago has stabilized, but the market still is ripe, according to an area real estate agent.

Land values surrounding the 170,000-acre peninsula, which is owned by the Tennessee Valley Authority, skyrocketed after the completion in 1966 of Lake Barkley and the Kentucky Barkley Canal, Bill Johnson a Marshall County realtor, said in a recent interview.

"Seven or eight years ago the real estate and homebuilding markets were blossoming," said Johnson, who is president of the Kentucky-Barkley Lakes Board of Realtors. "The land speculation began about 10 years ago. But there are a lot more users of the area now, and the price increases in real estate eliminated the speculation. There are very few steals today," Johnson said.

Johnson explained that when the market opened up, lots were bought by people who planned to build vacation homes but later sold the lots for more money. "Now when somebody buys a lot they know it will be hard to find another one, so they hold on to it," Johnson said.

Johnson cited price fluctuations on lots along the western shore of Kentucky Lake as an example of how land values have gone up. The 25-mile strip of shoreline is considered the premium location for vacation homebuilding, he said.

A pair of lakefront lots totaling about two acres sold for $8,000 each in 1968; in 1974, the lots sold separately for $13,000 and $14,000, Johnson said. One lot was resold last year for $16,500. I could get $18,000 to $20,000 for each of them today," Johnson said.

"Many people buy lots with the intention of building a vacation home but later change their minds for various reasons, so that keeps the property reselling," Johnson said. "There a good turnover around here."

Johnson said lakefront property "has gotten so high that people from great distances away will settle for just near the water."

But even "lake access" lots, those within five minutes of the water, have doubled in value in the last decade. Atypical tract sold for $500 in 1968 - it goes for about $1,000 now, Johnson said.

And from all indications, the growth of the tourist industry in the lakes area will continue to expand the real estate and home building markets, Johnson said.

Between 1.5 million and 1.8 million tourists visited the Land Between the Lakes in 1977, according to TVA information director Darryl Armstrong.

A report prepared for Kentucky's Western Waterland Inc., a tourist business association, estimates that five million people will visit the eight-county area annually by 1985. TVA says the tourist industry around the Land Between the Lakes already is a $70 million a year business.

"The natural retirement rate means we'll see a lot more people coming here in the next few years," Johnson said. "The homebuilding will undoubtedly continue to increase."

An impending trend in the vacation home trade here is condominiums and self-contained retirement villages, Johnson said, "but that won't diminish the single-family buyers - it will complement that."

Drug Manufacturer Challenges Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scientific research team's conclusion that heavy, prolonged use of a popular aspirin substitute may trigger cataracts in some humans was challenged today by a drug manufacturer and a laboratory chief of the National Eye Institute.

The report is contained in this week's issue of Science, the journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

It said experiments on laboratory mice indicated that "long-term administration of high doses of acetaminophen may contribute to cataract formation," a clouding of the lens or lens capsule of the eye that causes partial or total blindness.

Acetaminophen is an over-the-counter pain reliever and fever reducer sold under such brand names as Tylenol and Datril. The makers of Tylenol, the top-selling aspirin substitute, estimate their product accounts for 21 percent of all nonprescription analgesic sales.

The report in Science said that although the laboratory mice were given very high doses of acetaminophen, "our ophthalmologic findings may be important clinically to certain patients receiving either a single large overdose of this drug or high doses over a long period."

Dr. Hitoshi Shichi, of the federally supported National Eye Institute's laboratory of vision research, said in a telephone interview from Sarasota, Fla., that this referred to patients with "suicidal tendencies" or elderly patients who take large quantities of acetaminophen for relieving pain of arthritis.

Shichi defined a long period as six months to a year or more.

The report added that cigarette smoking, eating of charcoal-broiled foods and exposure to hydrocarbon pollutants in the air "might be important in assessing differences in genetic susceptibility to drug-induced cataract formation."

Dr. Thomas Gates, medical director of McNeil Laboratories at Fort Washington, Pa., said, "There is no basis in fact in that report. There has been not a single reported case of cataracts due to acetaminophen in the entire world's medical literature."

A scientific advisory panel told the Food and Drug Administration last July that both aspirin and acetaminophen were safe and effective, but recommended that products containing acetaminophen carry labels warning that excessive doses can cause liver damage.

At the time, the makers of Tylenol announced they would voluntarily add a precautionary label warning about possible liver damage.

Sides In Church-School Debates Given Additional Month In Case

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Both sides in a dispute over the state's right to regulate private, church-supported schools have been given an additional month to prepare their arguments in a suit filed in Franklin Circuit Court.

Circuit Judge Henry Meigs has reset the hearing, scheduled to begin today, for mid-June, because of a crowded court docket. Meigs set aside three days, June 14-16, for arguments in the case.

The original hearing in the suit was set for last October, and was later set back to November, then April and then May.

The suit was filed last September by the Kentucky Association of Christian Schools and several parents of children attending Christian schools.

Named as defendants were the state Department of Education and the state Board of Elementary and Secondary Education.

The 24-page suit charges that state law authorizing the regulation of private schools by the state board is unconstitutional "vague and does not authorize the board to 'accredit' or 'approve' such schools."

The controversy began last May when the state board refused to accredit 20 Christian schools for failing to meet minimum state standards in such areas as textbooks, certification of teachers and facilities.

When 18 of the non-accredited schools re-opened in the fall, the state board directed local school officials to take legal action against parents sending their children to the schools.

The suit followed, and Meigs issued a temporary restraining order stopping enforcement of the state's truancy law against the schools involved in the suit until it is decided.

The suit goes beyond the minimum state standards required of the schools. The suit charges that requiring the schools to meet the minimum standards would "substantially limit and interfere with the religious mission of the schools."

It also contends the parents will be forced to send their children to public schools against their choice if the private schools are not allowed to remain open.

The state board, in a statement released prior to the suit, said religious freedom is not an issue in the accreditation battle.

"If a private school is approved (by the state), it may teach whatever religion or religious beliefs it chooses to teach, so long as it also furnishes to its students the opportunity to obtain an education which meets minimum state standards," the board statement said.

A survey of local directors of pupil personnel showed 31 of the state's 181 school districts had students living in the area who were attending a private non-accredited school.

While two of the 20 schools not accredited last May did not re-open, the survey turned up two additional schools (in Boyd and Floyd counties) the state had not known about.

The state board will take up accreditations for next school year at a special meeting May 24, but a spokesman said it would probably not take up the matter of non-accredited schools until the suit is decided.

Carroll Fails To Report Plane's Use As Taxable Income

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Julian Carroll has failed to report as income his vacation and family uses of state airplanes, in apparent disregard of federal tax rulings, according to a copyrighted story in The Courier-Journal.

In today's editions, the newspaper's Washington bureau reported that the governor, through his press spokesman, denied that the value of the trips should be viewed as income.

They have not been viewed as such by previous administrations, said spokesman Gary Auxier.

The Courier-Journal said it has obtained a description of federal income tax rules and procedures on plane trips, such as those the governor has been making, from the Internal Revenue Service, Congress' Joint Committee on Taxation, the White House and the Securities and Exchange Commission, as well as from tax attorneys and law professors.

All stressed that they could speak only in theory on the current state of the law, the newspaper said, not the specifics of Carroll's actions. But their unanimous view was that the value of free vacation or personal trips afforded an employee are "non-cash benefits" that should be reported as income, the newspaper reported.

Auxier said the plane trips have been viewed as an "accoutrement of office" — like the governor's mansion and its staff. As such, Auxier said, "the determination was made long ago that this accoutrement didn't constitute taxable income and he has proceeded accordingly."

Carroll's view was supported by Maurice P. Carpenter, commissioner of the Department of Revenue, The Courier-Journal said.

According to the newspaper, Auxier said that Carroll asked his accountant Tuesday to "have another look at the thing." The request to the accountant came a day after The Courier-Journal began making inquiries on the matter, the newspaper said.

DRUG ABUSE

a health column from the

Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration
U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

Preventing Drug Abuse in Your Family—Part II

The reasons people abuse drugs are as different as people are from one another.

People take drugs to change the way they feel—to feel better, to feel happy, to feel nothing, to forget, to remember, to be accepted, to be sociable—to be something different from what they are. Drugs may seem to be the best way to change a mood; to stop physical or mental pain; to increase self-assurance; to appear independent, daring, or even attractive.

People often feel different about themselves when they use drugs, but the effects don't last. In the long run, people who misuse or abuse drugs feel worse about themselves, their problems increase, and they often get trapped in a spiral of increasing drug use.

Within a family, a lot of things influence a young person's attitude toward drugs and the likelihood that she or he will abuse them. Foremost among these is role modeling—children copying their parents' weaknesses as well as their strengths. It is common knowledge that children of smokers tend also to smoke.

If a parent drinks or takes pills to escape personal problems, to feel better, or to "have a good time," his or her children may grow to believe that these are the right responses to disappointments or problems. Research shows a striking relationship between parents' use of drugs and drug abuse in their children.

Of course, parents are people, too. Children can understand that no one is always perfect. What they need to see is consistency and decency in the people they most admire. What leads to confusion is the "Do as I say, not as I do" philosophy. You are the example. If you rely on drugs, you may be passing your own problems to your children. And they may not be old enough, or experienced enough, to know how to handle those problems by themselves.

Majority Of County's Veterans Served In WWII

The majority of Calloway County's estimated 3,300 veterans served in the World War II era, according to figures released from the Veterans Administration.

The latest Veterans Administration figures place the veteran population in Kentucky at 410,000, according to an official. Over 1,360 World War II era veterans live in the county today. In the state there are 182,000.

Vietnam era veterans took second place with 112,000 in the state and 1,040 in the county. In this area there are 990 veterans from the Korean conflict and 80,000 living in the state.

There are 12,000 World War I veterans still living in the state and 90 in this county. Since the Vietnam war ended three years ago, 2,000 service personnel have served and returned to the state, and 20 to this county.

Other veterans who are eligible for benefits are those who served between the end of the Korean conflict and the beginning of the Vietnam era. Kentucky has 43,000 veterans in this category, and 350 in Calloway County. Of the total veteran population in the state, 365,000 served during the wartime period and 2,930 in this county.

Let's Stay Well

Protect Your Feet While Jogging

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Q: Mr. P.V. writes to ask about suggestions for protect his feet while jogging. He already walks several miles a day, but he has heard that jogging places more strain on the feet.

A: You are correct that jogging generates more force against the lower part of the legs and feet. Therefore, it is desirable to take certain precautions to see that such force is not harmful.

The muscles are the principal source of protection, and it is essential that they are gradually conditioned for the additional exercise. Good muscular function also aids significantly in supporting the ligaments and joints as well as the bones.

It is preferable to warm up your muscles gradually by walking for some distance before beginning to jog or run.

Equipment plays an important role and should fit properly to avoid any undue sites of pressure and friction on the skin. Such pressure can bring blisters or calluses that are painful. Thick socks that are smooth and free of wrinkles can form a protective layer. Thick soft soles on running shoes of adequate width and length spread the weight and lessen the jarring of the foot.

A soft surface of earth or cinders is preferable to pavement, though many runners tolerate a hard surface once they are experienced and in good physical condition.

If you have to run in the city, it is better to do so in the early morning or evening when traffic is light.

Watch for curbs and other irregularities. They can interfere with a sound footing and result in a sprained ankle or a fall. People walking at a slower pace or exercising their pets also interfere with a regular stride and are potential hazards, as are oncoming motor vehicles and bicycles.

The foot is best protected by running flatfooted. Catch your weight on the heel and outer part of the foot, allowing it to roll forward toward the ball of the foot and toes. The front part of the foot and toes are more fragile and are protected from the pressure of the body weight if your foot lands against the ground principally on your heel. The front of your foot and toes are used to spring you off on your next step.

These precautions are needed because of the inevitable jarring that comes from running. Walking is characterized by slower speeds and by having one foot always on the ground. When running and jogging, both feet are off the ground part of the time, causing a greater jar when one foot reaches the ground. Speed is also greater, increasing the pressure from body inertia. Some of this pressure is lessened by the bending of the knees with each stride so that the pounding from body weight is reduced by the flexion or spring-like action of them.

One way to protect the feet is to jog a limited amount at first and gradually increase it, building good muscle tone and coordination as you extend your distance.
